

A modular approach
to breakthrough thinking.

ELECTRONIC WARFARE. It is now possible to accelerate legacy electronic warfare systems ahead a full generation with a straightforward modular upgrade. Next Generation EW technologies from Northrop Grumman employ open architecture and digital building blocks to deliver maximum flexibility, accelerating combat capabilities. By mixing and matching components, fighting capacities are mission customized. With over fifty years of experience, backed by legendary support, Northrop Grumman delivers critical performance advantages in complex frequency environments.